Dear Bloomingtondale Families,

The Bloomingtondale Free Public Library is here for you. To stay safe, we are following the guidelines and recommendations of the CDC, the New Jersey Department of Health, Passaic County, and the Borough of Bloomingtondale, which has resulted in changes to how we offer our library services.

We are happy to share that many library services are available. You can find the below resources and services on our website: <https://www.bloomingtondalelibrary.org>

- Curbside delivery is provided as borough hall remains closed to the public. You can request items from our catalog:
https://palsplus.ent.sirsi.net/client/en_US/PALSPLUS.org
- Digital Collection: includes digital editions of books, audiobooks, music, movies, graphic novels, and digital magazines via Hoopla, Overdrive/Libby, and RB Digital
- Brainfuse: FREE online tutoring seven days a week from 2:00pm-11:00pm
- NewsBank: current and archived information from thousands of newspaper titles
- Rutgers Geology Museum: Ask a Geologist Web Series
- Databases: for all of your research needs, we offer databases, including World Book Online, to provide information covering a variety of topics including: biography, business, health, history, literature and much more
- Language Learning: Rosetta Stone courses to learn 30 different languages
- Programming: Miss Monica will continue virtual programming in the fall, including story time, DIY crafts, and YouTube readings. Follow us on Facebook!

We miss you and hope you stay well, wash your hands and keep safe.

Warm regards,
Patricia Adam Perugino, Director
